CITY TRUSTEES

Petitions Filed for Election on Consolidation of Glendale and Tropico—Cover Reservoirs

All members present except Mr. Watson. Minutes were read. Trustee Lane requested that the minutes show the reason why the bid of the GLENDALE NEWS for city printing at 30 cents an inch was accepted when there was a bid in for printing and posting at the rate of 20 cents an inch. Mr. Coker thought the minutes should stand unchanged. Mr. Williams explained that his original motion should have read "There being but one legal bid for city printing, etc." (The law requiring contract to be let to the paper one year old, "published and printed in the city.") Mr. Coker still objecting, the minutes were left unchanged. The city marshal requested authority to employ three special officers for service "Hallowe'en." Mr. Williams moved that he be authorized five such deputies; carried.

Manager of light department reported that he had taken up with Pacific Light & Power Company the question of extending the lights to the lately annexed district and would have a report next week. He also spoke of the change made by the lately adopted amendment to the state constitution which gives municipalities greater power over public utilities using the streets; thought it would work out greatly to the advantage of the city.

Report of tax collector showed $754.30 collected during week; total to date $3072.98.

Citizens of Tropico presented petitions signed by the necessary number of voters required by law to bring about an election, requesting the trustees to call an election for the consolidation of the two cities. The Tropico petition was signed by 220 qualified voters and the Glendale petition by 143 voters. On motion the petitions were referred to the city clerk and the city attorney for verification of signatures. Mr. Fram addressed the board urging prompt action in regard to the matter to avoid complications. A motion passed that when the board adjourns it be until Wednesday, Nov. 1st at 3 p. m., to take action in this matter.

A communication from the Southern California Gas Co. was read, in which they acknowledged communication received from the trustees asking for lower gas rate; saying would reply later.

A communication was read from Mary H. Gridley asking that Milford street be opened up from Brand boulevard to Maryland avenue. Referred to city engineer.

Communication was received from the secretary of state acknowledging receipt of report in regard to late annexation election.

The president of the board called attention to frequent complaints as to the reckless running of cars on the Glendale and Eagle Rock railway, the controller being left unattended while the conductor collects fares: one or two accidents having recently occurred, fortunately without serious results. The matter was referred to the city attorney. The matter of shooting galleries not being regulated by present ordinance, the city attorney was requested to prepare an amendment to ordinance controlling the same, particularly with the object of closing up such a place on Sundays. There was a long discussion over the condition of the open-air gallery on Fourth street near Brand. Mr. Coker insisted that the enterprise be housed. It seems that a license had already been issued to the concern. It was finally referred to a committee consisting of Trustee Coker, the marshal and building inspector, with instructions to report Wednesday.

Demand for amount of $173 in favor of the Carr Co. in re improvement of Sixth street, was presented by city engineer, and with a number of other demands was presented and approved.

The street superintendent reported the difficulty experienced in having the gas company restore the streets to their original condition, and suggested the framing of an ordinance whereby the city will do this work, charging a fixed rate to the companies (water and gas).

An ordinance providing for the covering of reservoirs within the city was read first and second times and laid over for one week. The health officer, Dr. R. E. Chase, made a report of his attendance at the meeting of the League of California municipalities at Santa Barbara. He paid particular attention to questions of sanitation with reference to sewage and water pollution. Did not get much specific information from the state officers present, although there was discussion of the disposal of sewage by septic tanks, individual and community; for authority on this subject was referred to Prof. Hyde of Berkeley. He suggested taking the sewage question up with the Los Angeles authorities.

BIG PUMPKIN CONTEST.

The mammoth pumpkin guessing contest held this week by Cornwell & Kelty of Brand boulevard, was the cause of considerable excitement. E. F. Adams and C. J. Baron guessed the correct weight of the pumpkin, the weight being 86½ pounds.

THE PASSING OF "WEST GLENDALE"

Recently Annexed Territory Populous and Prosperous—Nearly 500 Houses Annexed

With a view of obtaining a correct idea of the extent of the added population to the city, a reporter of the NEWS has made a count of houses in the annexed territory, with the following result: South to Sixth street, 168. Between Sixth and Fourth street, 156. North of Fourth street, 164; total 468. Of these houses there are probably 25 unoccupied. A number of them still are in process of building. A conservative estimate of the number of people in this territory is 1800, probably 2000 would be as near the mark. This makes the total pipulation of Glendale about 5000. In this added territory there are four grocery stores, one church and a school house. The laundry is left outside by half a block. In this section are a number of fine residences. On the rear of some of the lots are temporary residences of small value, but the average character of the houses is good; those in the northern part being with few exceptions built within the past two years. In every direction new residences may be seen in course of construction. Peter L. Ferry is building three cottages on Second street west of Central and on another lot near by, Chandler and Lawson will start one in a few days.

STILL BUILDING RAILROADS.

We find the following in the San Fernando Press:

"The fact that San Fernando is now practically assured of having another electric railway which will run through the heart of the town will be good news to the people of this section. For several weeks past promoters of the enterprise have been quietly at work and are now able to report that the matter is almost a certainty.

"E. D. Goode, of Glendale, well known throughout the valley as a successful promoter of electric railways, called at this office the first of the week and explained to us the contract in detail. Mr. Goode has successfully completed the three lines that now radiate from our sister city and is therefore a very competent man to handle the local enterprise. He was the initiator of what is now known as the Brand line from Glendale to Los Angeles. Then he built the Eagle Rock and Glendale line and later the Glendale and Verdugo line. He says the only one from which he derived any reasonable amount of compensation for his labors was the Verdugo Park line which he operated for two years and has just recently sold to Messrs. Jones and Hartranft who will continue the same to their new Gloretta Heights tract in the Monte Vista section."

In addition to this enterprise which is to connect the town of Van Nuys and San Fernando, Mr. Goode is working on the extension of the Eagle Rock Glendale road westward to Griffith Park, with a good chance of success.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

An advertising project is now before the chamber and if carried out, as is extremely probable, Glendale will receive such publicity as she has never had before. The scheme calls for a six-page write-up in the Arrowhead magazine published by the Salt Lake railroad, profusely illustrated with additional advertising in 196 newspapers published in the Middle West and also in the Arrowhead directory. This will bring our city to the attention of the thousands of persons who do not as yet know there is such a place as Glendale, and will no doubt influence many to make their home here.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS.

A party consisting of Frank Showalter, Guy Buttrick, Hugh Cornwell, Lester Jones and Al Bullis returned Saturday from a week's hunting trip at Elizabeth Lake. They camped by the lake, and found the shooting good, quail and duck being abundant. Of the latter they brought home sixty-seven, the result of the last day's shooting. They camped with John Munz at the lake, an old settler there, whom they found to be an interesting character, who added much to the pleasure of the party.

AN UNUSUALLY ATTRACTIVE STORE.

J. J. Nesom, the druggist, has moved into his store on the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Fourth street, and although not yet in complete order, the establishment is one that would be an ornament to a city of the first class. In connection with the store is a cigar stand on the Fourth street front that is furnished with all modern features. Back of this are tables and seats for patrons being served with refreshments, and just beyond is the soda water fountain and counter. The latter is of variegated marble, the dishes, glassware, spoons, etc., are all new, and a gesman silver water heater stands on the counter, as the fountain is to supply hot and cold drinks. Show cases and wall cases adorn the spaces they occupy, being composed of cherry-colored stained woods. In the rear is a large prescription room, and at one side in the rear is a ladies' rest room. One large case is devoted exclusively to a display of Eastman's kodak supplies. The store is much larger than Mr. Nesom's former quarters on the opposite side of the street, and indicates a successful and rapidly growing business.

RALLY DAY PROGRAM AT WEST GLENDALE M. E. CHURCH.

"The Call to Youth" furnished the topic for the Rally-Day program at this church on Sunday, Oct. 29. Owing to the length of the program it was impossible to print it as a whole, but each and every child, and adult as well, deserve much credit for their part. The singing was very good, and the different "Calls," such as the "Call of the Church, "Call of the Country," "Call of the World," "The Call of the Heathen Woman," "The Wide World Call," "One School and Its Calls," were exceptionally good. The superintendent, J. E. Henderson, gave a very neat little address, and told how the board of Sunday schools answered these "Calls." Rev. McAdams of Santa Monica was present and took part in the service. At the close of the programs, the pastor, Rev. Morrison, assisted by Revs. Elliott and Smith, administered the ordinance of baptism to Elaine Prinderville and Sanford Boyd Van Louen, two tiny members of the cradle roll. This was followed by a splendid sermon appropriate to the day, by Rev. Morrison, the pastor.

THE FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD.

This organization which has been in existence in Glendale for the past seven years or so, has lately taken on a new lease of life. At its meeting previous to the last, Mr. J. A. Foshay, supreme president of the order, was present and addressed the Glendale lodge and the rooms were thrown open to invited friends who enjoyed dancing until a late hour. The champion drill team of the order was also present and went through many beautiful and intricate evolutions. Last Thursday evening at Odd Fellows hall a class of seven candidates were initiated and this week on Friday at K. of P. hall where the lodge will meet for the present another class of the same number were taken in. Mr. Jones is the very efficient deputy at present in charge of the work of building up the order in Glendale.

IN HONOR OF LILLIAN SYBIL CARR.

Mrs. A. J. Catesbeer at her residence on Lomita avenue, near Columbus, entertained a party of friends last Saturday evening, the party being given in honor of Miss Lillian Sybil Carr of Pasadena, and formerly of Chicago, where she occupied a high place in musical and social circles. Five years ago this lady took the diamond medal at a contest among a number of great singers at the Chicago conservatory. During the evening Miss Carr contributed three double numbers which delighted the guests present. The hostess rendered several piano selections and Mrs. Turck gave pleasure to all present by her charming little stories for which she is noted. The refreshments were typical of the Hallowe'en season, features being pumpkin pie and the accessories.

SLIGHT FIRE.

A curtain in the residence of Mr. Dreyer, on Cedar street near First, was set on fire Monday night by one of his children. An alarm was turned in, but the fire was extinguished by the neighbors before much damage was done.

Nov. 26th—The ring finger, "Partnership."
Dec. 3—The little finger, "Proportion."

FIRST AFFAIR IN LECTURE COURSE.

Although the evening threatened rain and Glendale is so near Los Angeles where the best talent which the world offers may be frequently heard, a fair-sized audience listened attentively on Friday night at Filger Opera house to the entertainment presented by the Ricketts Entertainment Company.

Mr. Chester L. Ricketts, a wonderfully clever impersonator, could alone have satisfactorily entertained the audience with his inimitable character sketches, which were interspersed with songs and music on violin, flute, cello and piano by the other members of the company.

The second engagement of this course will be filled by Count Col. Sobieski, who needs no further introduction to the civilized world.

JUST WANTED A RIDE.

When arrested for stealing a motor cycle Tuesday afternoon and taken before Recorder Whomes, a fellow giving his name as Henry Jones, claimed that he had taken the machine just for a ride. The date for Jones' trial was set for 10 o'clock, November 2. The arrest was made by Jim Everett. Rufus and William Hammond were owners of the machine, having purchased it from Fred Fisk several days ago.

The wheel was taken from the rear of the meat store on Brand boulevard, but the thief only got as far as Fourth and Louise streets when the carbureter failed to work and within five minutes the officer overtook him as he was trying to push the machine along. The thief has the appearance typical of the yeggman.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

Of Presbyterian church will meet Nov. 7th at the church. Mrs. A. D. McCoy, hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bright of Maryland avenue during the week.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT I. O. O. F. HALL.

Monday evening the members of Glendale Lodge, I. O. O. F., gave a delightful Hallowe'en party to the Rebeccas and friends. The entire programme was in charge of the "Odds," and all the ladies were asked to do was to enjoy themselves, as they certainly did. Cards and dancing furnished amusement for all those inclined that way, while others engaged themselves in conversation and listened to some excellent piano selections by Mr. Evans. Coffee and doughnuts, such as mother used to make, were generously dispensed during the evening, with plenty of juicy apples for good measure. The hall was gayly dressed in colored pennants and jack-o'-lanterns, most of the latter thinking they "were some pumpkins," from the fact that they furnished the light for the merrymakers.

Chef Brown furnished the coffee. Booth did not have a good time. It was Taylor's fault, as master of ceremonies. Marshal Miller and Chief Everett were there. Middleworth kept the jack-o'-lanterns going and was generally useful.

CHAPTER L, P.E.O. ENTERTAINS.

Monday evening Chapter L of P. E. O. entertained in honor of their B. I. F.'s and in commemoration of Hallowe'en. Mrs. Robert Blackburn, Miss Mary Balckburn and Mrs. Charles Byrkit were hostesses of the evening and entertained at the home of Mrs. Byrkit on Belmont street. The house was converted into the spookiest place imaginable, only lighted here and there with a candle, bats and witches inhabited the dark corners. At 9 o'clock a most doleful funeral march issued from some place, a door opened and the P. E. O.'s garbed in the shrouds of ghosts issued forth to be identified by their bewildered B. I. F.'s. Spooky stunts of every description were indulged in, pasts related and futures predicted, haunts haunted and spirits wafted. The closing event of the evening was the serving of delicious refreshments. As usual with an affair of the P. E. O.'s, the pleasure was unqualified and marks another success in the chain of their eevnts.

SPOOKY CARD PARTY.

Tuesday evening the Country Club parlors were devoted to the regular monthly card party which was undoubtedly one of the successes of the club's social season.

The guests were received by two gruesome ghosts who conducted them into the club which had been converted into a genuine abode for Hallowe'en spirits. Yellow and black was the keynote of the decorative scheme and cats, witches and spooks were everywhere. Sixty-four guests enjoyed themselves playing five hundred, making sixteen tables in all. Mrs. John Robert White and Mr. W. H. McElroy were awarded the head prizes. A genuine Hallowe'en supper was served and thoroughly enjoyed. The host and hostess of the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Temple to whose endeavors the success of the evening was entirely due.

HALLOWE'EN MASQUE BALL.

In honor of Hallowe'en Mrs. C. O. Pulliam of Kenwood street in behalf of her daughters, Misses Myrtle and Emma Pulliam, entertained at their home Friday evening. The masque party was without doubt one of the prettiest affairs enjoyed by the younger set. The house was a bower of chrysanthemum blooms and formed a beautiful and appropriate setting for the multitude of pretty fancy gowns and costumes. Hallowe'en eats were served in Hallowe'en style and consumed accordingly to the tune of much laughter and fun. One and all acknowledged that the evening had been one of the pleasantest and most unique ever enjoyed.

SOCIAL IN HONOR OF HALLOWE'EN.

All who attended the social given by the St. Marks' Guild Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Witt at 1457 Fourth street, report the very best and jolliest kind of a time. Decorations which consisted of yellow chrysanthemums, jack o' lanterns, witches, cats and spooks, lent a genuine Hallowe'en atmosphere to the festivities. Cards were enjoyed by the older people and Hallowe'en stunts and games entertained the younger guests. The affair was a genuine success from a social and financial standpoint.

L. A. H. ENTERTAINS.

One of the happiest of the Hallowe'en affairs was the quaint party given members of the L. A. H. club at the home of Miss Ruth Byram, Glendale avenue. Eighteen sheeted guests found in a walnut shell the stunts expected of them during the evening. Apple-bobbing and fortunes were among any number of wierd things that were done. Of course decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the season, and the entire event proved a very gay and happy one.

WORK OF VANDALS.

As will be noticed by the reward offered elsewhere in the NEWS, someone, inspired by unadulterated depravity, cut with a sharp knife two tires of a bicycle left at Ninth and Brand Tuesday evening. It is hoped that the reward will be effectual in securing the guilty person.

SCHOOL MEETING

Mass Meeting to Instruct Trustees. Action on Purchase of School Building Site Deferred

As usual with called meetings to instruct the school trustees, there was a small attendance last Tuesday evening at the city hall, the best representation being from Cast Verdugo, there being something like twenty citizens present from that section. Mr. J. C. Sherer was elected chairman of the meeting, Mr. R. W. Meeker acting as secretary. Mr. R. A. Blackburn, president of the board of trustees, stated the object of the meeting, to the effect that the trustees had only received he bond money a few days ago, and in view of the fact that a petition was in circulation for the annexation of the part of the district above the wash to La Crescenta school district, so that after that was accomplished the Casa Verdugo section might form a separate district on the plea that there was no school house in the district within two miles of them, no action had been taken by the trustees to carry out instructions given at the last public meeting as to the purchase of property on the northern city boundary for a new school house, and it was thought best, on account of changed conditions, to call the people together to act in the matter. It was also stated that petitions are circulating for the combination in one of the Glendale city and the West Glendale districts. Superintendent Mark Keppel, being present, spoke on the question, explaining the law and in a general way favoring the consolidation of the districts. A number of questions were asked Mr. Keppel by Mr. Stanton, Mr. Holman and others, in an apparent effort to get assurance that in the event of consolidation the 100 school children north of the wash would be likely to have a school house located in their neighborhood. The trustees favored this, as did also a number of Glendale people present, who gave assurance that they would support a movement to locate a school house there in such place as the people of that section might agree upon. Mr. Keppel explained that in the event of the failure of the people north to get what they wanted, they would still have the privilege of withdrawing from the district, just as they have now. He also explained that if there should be a school house located there by the combined district, and that section should eventually cut off from the Glendale district, the building and the bonded debt that it represented would go together. It was stated by Mr. Blackburn that the petition circulated in Glendale had received numerous signatures, but that the one required from the West Glendale district had not been signed by many of the required "heads of families" as yet. Mr. Stanton stated that the matter would be taken up by the Casa Verdugo Improvement Association the following (Wednesday) evening, and if action taken there was favorable to the consolidation of the districts he would secure signatures to the petition. A spirit of harmony finally seemed to settle down over the meeting, and on motion of Mr. O. A. Lane the trustees were instructed to defer action in regard to the purchase of property for school purposes for thirty days.

REAL ESTATE PARTNERSHIP DISCONTINUED.

The real estate partnership which has existed in this place for the past four years and has been known as the Overton Realty Company, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. P. A. Kranz, who was one of the firm, will embark at once in the real estate business with his brother, A. Kranz, the firm to be known as the Kranz Realty company. This company will maintain offices at 413 Story building, Los Angeles, and 330 Brand boulevard, Glendale. They will conduct a straight real estate, loans and insurance business.

ONE CHURCH ONLY. ARE OTHERS FALSE?

"Church of the Firstborns"—Pastor Russell Points Out the True Church and Asks Respecting Others—The Bible Testimony on the Subject. Christians of All Creeds Assent.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Pastor Russell's discourse at the Brooklyn Academy of Music today was heard by a crowded house. He had closest attention to his discussion of the question, "Which is the True Church?" The vast audience appeared satisfied that the true Church had been properly located. The audience, so far as could be ascertained, was composed of truth-hungry people of all denominations. Undoubtedly the question discussed has been a vital one for centuries. Some claim that never before had an answer been given satisfactory to Christians of all denominations. His text was, "The Church of the First-borns, whose names are written in heaven."—Heb. xii, 23.

Numerous Scriptures were cited in proof of the speaker's contention that the Lord Jesus and the Apostles never organized any but the one Church, and the histories of the various denominations were referred to as proving that nearly all present-day Christian denominations were non-existent a thousand years ago and hence none of these denominations could have been the one referred to by the Apostle as the "Church of the Living God."—I Timothy iii, 15.

For a time, said the speaker, each of the various denominations in turn protested against other teachings and claimed to be the one Church of Christ which had been for centuries lost sight of. At one time these various denominations fought each other, persecuted each other even unto death, each claiming that the other was a false Church and that itself was the true one. More recently, however, the Christian mind has broadened and deepened until now we clearly see that God has saintly people in practically all denominations.

The One Catholic Church

Pastor Russell freely admitted that the Roman Catholic Church could prove her existence long centuries before her sister and daughter organizations, but he disputed, nevertheless, that the Church of Rome could prove her identity with the Apostolic Church of the first century. On the contrary, many of the teachings of the Church of Rome differ radically from those of the Church of Jerusalem, represented by the Apostles and their New Testament writings. And as for the ceremonials, usages, customs, etc., no one at all familiar with the two could suppose them to have even a close relationship.

The only conclusion we reach consistent with the above facts is this: That the original Church which Jesus and His Apostles founded was a catholic one—that is to say, a general or universal Church, and not a Church of Rome, a Church of England, a Church of Sweden, a Church of Germany, nor a Greek Church, but a universal Church—a catholic or general Church. Protestants in general recognize this and hence in their confessions generally claim to be "The Holy Catholic (universal) Church."

The fact, however, is that none of these churches (Roman, English, Baptist, Presbyterian, etc.) is catholic or general, because none of them includes all of God's people. To admit that any one of these religious bodies is the catholic or general Church of Christ would be to admit that it includes all persons recognized by the Lord as being members of His Church. We cannot, therefore, admit that the term catholic belongs to any of these denominations, not even the Roman Catholic. The catholic Church of Christ—the one which includes all who are truly His—is not a human organization, and its role or rostra is not kept on earth. To it alone apply the Apostle's words—"The Church of the First-borns, whose names are written in heaven."

"Household of Faith"

This family of God, begotten of the Holy Spirit, are one with Him in Spirit, in purpose, in intention. They have the "Faith once delivered unto the saints"—faith in the Father, faith in the Lord Jesus as His Son, man's Redeemer; faith in the Holy Spirit of begetting, faith in the exceeding great and precious promises of glorious things to come, and they have the one baptism into the Body of Christ, which is the Church. Some of them may have seen and may have obeyed the proper symbol of this one baptism, while others may not. But all these recognize the true baptism and all participated therein—baptism into Christ's death.—Romans vi, 6.

If we so see, let us strive to attain membership in the true Church. The steps are:

(1) Faith.

(2) Obedience to the invitation to self-sacrifice.

(3) The carrying out of that sacrifice day by day, faithfully, unto death.

(4) A share in the resurrection "change" to glory, honor, immortality.

Let us, then, lay aside every weight and every besetting sin and run with patience this race and secure our full membership in the Church beyond the veil.

Good Money After Bad.

It is a curious fact that many men, level headed enough about other things, seem to lose their wits entirely when they become involved in lawsuits. In one case recently concluded in the German courts a Berlin merchant paid out over $900 to recover the value of a five cent postage stamp. He had written a letter asking for an address and inclosing postage for reply. Failing to get an answer, he sued for the stamp.

The famous Missouri watermelon case was just as trifling and even more disastrous. The seed was planted on one farm, but the vine crept through a crack in the rail fence, and the melon grew on the other side. Both farmers claimed it, and instead of perceiving the humor of the situation they went to law. To add to the puzzling features of the question of ownership there was the further complication in that the fence stood on a county line, whereupon a question of the jurisdiction of the courts came up. The farmers bankrupted themselves without obtaining a decision as to the ownership.—Green Bag.

Liquid Dynamite.

The Mexicans have a native brandy called aguardiente, which is a species of liquid dynamite, as palatable as corrosive sublimate and as full of potential deviltry as an egg is of meat. When you find a Mexican gentleman adorned with a belt full of deadly weapons decorating and deluging his interior with aguardiente it is the part of prudence to retire to a bombproof. There is another tipple, a white, innocent looking fluid called mescal, which is distilled from a cactus of the same name, which has in it all the combined energy, activity and homicidal possibilities of a volcano mixed up with the gable end of a mule. In former days the Apache Indians made a crude distillation of the same stimulant, which they called tis-win, and as a preliminary to a raid among ranches and settlements it was a great success from an Indian point of view.—Boston Herald.

The Crocodiles Dived.

The cunning of wild animals in concealing themselves in moments of danger is well known. A party, spending a week on the Nile, were watching eight or ten crocodiles sunning themselves on the surface of a small lagoon. It was determined to trap these monsters, if possible. The water was breast deep, including about two feet or more of heavy mud. Four nets were tied together, so as to make one long enough to reach across the lagoon, and this was weighted on the bottom. This net was drawn with long poles from each shore, and behind the net came a line of men a yard apart, prodding the mud with poles. The scheme looked like an admirable one, but the crocodiles sleepily dived, and that was the last seen of them. The water was dragged backward and forward, but they had burrowed so deeply in the mud that not one could be found.

A Political Genius.

Congressmen sometimes adopt queer expedients to gain the good will of their constituents. Years ago a member from a western state was afraid that his first term would be his last, as he had not managed to make himself a power in congress. While he was debating what he should do a friend said, "You live near the center of the United States, don't you?" "Yes." "Then why don't you introduce a bill to have the capital moved to the principal town in your district?" The congressman introduced the bill, and the people of his district at once concluded he was a great man and sent him back for another term. He reintroduced the bill in the next congress, and, although it was promptly pigeonholed in committee, his constituents gave him a third term as a reward for his genius.

The Blushing Octopus.

The octopus frequently changes in color like a marine chameleon. It would appear, from studies of this creature, that the colored pigment whereby this change in color is effected is contained in envelopes in its skin, in the tissue of which are muscular fibers actuated by nerves. Should these fibers become relaxed a dark pigment appears. The phenomenon is said to be analogous to blushing.—Harper's Weekly.

Corrected Him.

A reporter was once interviewing Thomas A. Edison.

"And you, sir," he said to the inventor, "made the first talking machine?"

"No," Mr. Edison replied, "the first one was made long before my time—out of a rib."

Three Not of a Kind.

The following poem was written over half a century ago by the father of our fellow townsman, Mr. J. L. Whitaker, of Ninth street. Had the poet lived in Southern California, his excellent verse would, no doubt, have been tinged with the sunshine of our genial climate:

AUTUMN.

The Spring's gay livery has long been passed,
Like all things beautiful, too bright to last;
The glory of the Summer is no more,
The dazzling splendor of those charms is o'er,
Which late, our fancy pleased.

Borne on the pinions of the dewey morn,
Enrich'd and blest by plenty's golden horn,
Comes Autumn forth, in radiant beauty clad,
Calling all Nature to rejoice in glad
Anthems of gratitude.

Of gratitude to Him who o'er the land
His mercies showers with ungrudging hand,
Who sees all creatures with impartial eye,
And scatters bounties from His throne on high,
On all that He has made.

Season of hopes fulfilled, how calm thy mien,
Deck'd in thy gorgeous robes of gold and green,
Whose varied tints in rich gradation blend,
Whose countless hues their shining luster lend,
To welcome thine approach.

Attending thee comes "Ceres" laughing train,
Bearing her stores of fruit and precious grain,
With peace and joy the rolling year is crown'd,
And glad profusion smiles on all around
To cheer the heart of man.

But there is melancholy in thy smile,
For well we know that in a little while
And all thy wreaths shall wither in the blast
Of Winter, and thy day be overcast
In deep and chilling gloom.

The falling leaf too surely speaks the doom
That waits thy verdure and thy ripen'd bloom;
The feathered tribe, so musical before,
Pour forth their joyous minstrelsy no more,
But silent mourn the change.

E'en such is human life, in Spring's gay morn,
Fragrant with hope, our earliest wishes dawn;
Summer and Autumn see our roses fade,
And Winter wrecks those wishes in the shade
Of dim obscurity.

Oh! may life's little day so pass away
With me, that in the last great Harvest Day,
Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter may appear
As ripening me to shine in that blest sphere
Where all is joy and peace!

Do We Sleep Too Much?

Perhaps, on account of popular opinion and personal habit, we waste much time in a jellyfish condition that could be more profitably spent in active pursuit of our ambitions. The answer, of course, depends upon the nature of our occupation. If there is much muscular effort involved, with a corresponding large amount of waste in the cells and blood, eight hours or more are probably necessary. But if our work is of a sedentary nature and mainly of the brain there is naturally a smaller quantity of accumulated waste, and less time is required for its removal. Many are the instances of great men, past and present, who have lived healthfully and worked unceasingly and strenuously on only four or five hours of sleep, or half the laborer's portion. Surely we are not to suppose that those men were or are physically different from others, but rather that by inclination or necessity they have developed a habit of sleeping intensely for a short period instead of lightly for a longer period, with resulting gain of time and efficiency.—Atlantic Monthly.

Kings Are Useful.

A king is a hand embroidered gentleman trimmed with metals, faced with whiskers and thatched with a metal roof that would never keep off the rain. Nominally he is the head of the nation; actually he is a figurehead, and that is figuratively speaking only, for he is generally too fat to claim a figure and seldom has much of a head—except on the morning after a celebration.

Once upon a time the king was the big tuba of the band. Now he is merely an oboe—until there is a revolution, and then he becomes a real live hobo.

However, a king has his place, although he is yearly finding it more difficult to stay in it.

Kings are found to be very useful in poker games, and by society ladies who wish to be presented to somebody they can brag of having met when they get back home to their long left loved ones.—Detroit Free Press.

Light and Sound Waves.

With reference to our ability to tell the direction from which sound proceeds, attention may be called to an interesting difference between the eyes and the ears in relation to the size of the waves that strike them. The average wave length of light is about one ten-thousandth of the diameter of the pupil of the eye. On the other hand, according to Rayleigh, the waves of sound proceeding from a man's mouth are about eight feet long, whereas the diameter of the passage of the ear is quite small and could not well have been made a large multiple of eight feet. One consequence of the minuteness of light waves in comparison with the size of the eyes is that the lenses of the eyes are able to concentrate rays of light upon the retina with great efficiency.—Scientific American.

Oxygen as a Cutting Tool.

A jet of burning oxygen from a blowpipe may be successfully employed to cut sheet iron, iron tubes and small bars. The cut made is almost as sharp and thin as that made by a saw. In earlier attempts difficulty was encountered in clearing the cut of liquid metal and in preventing the spread of the melting effect beyond the borders of the cut. In later processes two blowpipes were used. The first has an ordinary oxyhydrogen flame, which heats the iron to redness at the place where the cut is to be made. This is followed immediately by the second jet, composed of pure oxygen, which instantly burns the metal without melting. The liquidized iron is blown swiftly from the fissure, so that there is no serious spreading of the heat to surrounding parts.—St. Louis Republic.

Two Days In One.

Chatham Island, lying off the coast of New Zealand, in the south Pacific ocean, is peculiarly situated, as it is one of the few habitable points of the globe where the day of the week changes. It is just on the line of the demarcation between dates. There at 12 noon on Sunday Sunday ceases, and instantly Monday meridian begins. Sunday comes into a man's house on the east side and becomes Monday by the time it passes out of the western door. A man sits down to his noonday dinner on Sunday, and it is Monday noon before he finishes it.—London Globe.

JOIN PRODUCERS AND CONSUMERS

System Through Which Retailers Buy From Farmers.

ELIMINATES THE MIDDLEMAN.

Secretary Wilson Has Advocated Some Such Plan—Recent Report Shows How Prices Are Doubled—What Des Moines Has Done.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

THAT the consumers of the cities have been compelled to pay from two to five times as much for food products as those products cost on the farms is a fact that has slowly been sinking home in the American mind. That this is the great cause of high prices has also become a general conviction. How to meet the situation has been the question. The common sense answer is that the farmer and consumer must get together. This cannot be done individually, or at least it is not done. Therefore the only way is for it to be done collectively. Luckily the co-operative movement in other parts of the world furnishes an object lesson as to the way it may be accomplished.

A co-operative movement that would bring about direct contact between the producer and the consumer or between the producer and the retailer would eliminate most of the profits that have been going to a number of middlemen. This is the high prices question in a nutshell. Until the American people are ready to protect themselves by following common sense and buying their produce direct from the farms, or as nearly so as can be contrived, they will continue to be imposed upon. The present system gouges in two directions, forcing down the prices the farmer receives and forcing up the prices the consumer pays. Yet the producers and consumers constitute the vast bulk of the population. Their salvation is in their own hands. All they need is to come together for their mutual benefit and provide machinery for direct commerce between them.

This machinery is already being fashioned by the grange that has had a long term of preliminary training in the grange stores. In the city of New York the grangers and business men working with them have formed the United Stores association for the express purpose of bringing together producer and retailer. The plan has been set forth in the prospectus of the company, from which liberal extracts are made. This prospectus was written by Roland Onufroy, founder and executive chairman of the United Stores association.

Co-operation the Only Way.

The continuous rise in the prices of the necessaries of life, with the consequent pressure upon the consumers, due largely to unnecessary intermediums and costly methods of distribution, suggests that the time is opportune for the introduction in the United States of an improved system for the sale and distribution of all commodities to the consumers.

Distributive co-operation is now the only possible and efficiently tested remedy against the evils of the high cost of living.

To Great Britain belongs the honor of having placed the co-operative movement on a sound, modern, commercial basis and of having made it the "greatest industrial force in the world." The English method consists in the organization of "societies" (corporations) whose primary and generally sole object is the purchase and distribution of all necessaries and commodities of life—equality and full measure being essential—for the exclusive benefit of their members, who are at the same time the stockholders, returning to them "the largest portion of the profit upon cost" included in the retail selling price.

This "profit upon cost," known as the "dividend," is paid in cash to each member of the co-operative society pro rata to the amount of his purchases in the store of his society.

Settlements are made quarterly.

Besides his "dividend," the member receives interest on his stock at a rate varying from 5 to 8 per cent per annum.

In the payment of this cash dividend quarterly to the member, an idea which must be credited to Robert Owen, lie probably the strength and the greatest cause of the popularity and stupendous growth of the co-operative movement in the British Isles.

The gigantic movement, started in 1844 with the humblest beginning, was of very slow growth, having had to carry on for over forty years the hardest conceivable fight against the combined forces of the manufacturing, wholesale and retail selling, banking and legislative representatives of the nation.

But it was a fight of the wage earners, the people against abuses and extortion on the part of the distributers and retailers of the necessaries of life.

Their cause was just. They were entitled in exchange for their hard earned money to receive full value for their purchases of all necessaries of life. They won because their cause was just.

In the last twenty years the might of right has become the might of number and has placed co-operation in England on an indestructible and permanent basis.

The example set by England is being eagerly followed among all civilized nations of the old world.

From the most recent data gathered from authoritative sources, such as Hans Muller, for instance, we learn that the present results of co-operation in continental Europe, though forty years younger, now exceed England's stupendous figures.

America Next.

The United States needs co-operation now, but it is a new nation, and its legislation, agriculture, industry, commerce and finance differ in many ways from those of European countries. Any importation of the co-operative plan must be accompanied by improvements and modifications which will adapt it to the character, methods, habits and requirements of the American people, and this under penalty of failure.

The failure to recognize and comply with these cardinal conditions is responsible for the lack of success of the previous attempts to establish co-operation in this country.

But there exists an American plan, now ready to be put in operation. It is the result of twenty years of close study of the conditions required to meet the instant favor of all without attacking or interfering with any of the industrial, commercial, producing and financial interests at present existing in this country.

The aims of the United Stores association through the permanent organization of its improved system of "distributive co-operation" are:

To bring close together the three social but divided elements—consumer, distributer and producer—causing them to reciprocate in a mutual and constant effort to help each other.

There are two classes of members—the associate purchasers and the associate dealers.

The main objects of the association regarding the consumer, its associate purchaser, are:

First.—To enable him to procure all necessaries of good quality, of just measure and weight and at fair prices.

Second.—To pay over to him from time to time, subject only to the simple regulations of the association, a cash refund or "dividend" in proportion to the amount of his and his family's trade with the stores or firms duly licensed by the association.

This dividend may be conservatively estimated at 6 per cent of the total cash purchases made by the member at current retail prices.

As to the associate dealers, any reputable retailer now in business is eligible to membership. He gets his produce direct from the farmers through a central distributing agency.

The Field Is Open.

The United Stores association plan is only given as a sample of what may be done. At present its field of operations is in New York city. Eventually it plans to extend to other cities. In the meantime there is nothing to prevent other associations or even groups of private individuals from doing the same thing. On this point Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, says in a report just out:

"Farmers' co-operative selling associations are numerous in this country," said the secretary, "but co-operative buying associations among the people of cities and towns are few. Why do not consumers buy directly from the farmers?

"Aside from buying associations maintained by farmers, hardly any co-operation exists in this country. It is apparent that the consumer has much to do to work out his own salvation with regard to the prices he pays.

"Potatoes were selling in the spring of 1909 in some places where there had been overproduction for 20 cents a bushel and in some places for even 9 cents a bushel at the farm, while at the same time city consumers were paying 50 to 75 cents a bushel, although there was nothing to prevent them from combining to buy a carload or more of potatoes directly from the grower and for delivery directly to themselves."

Enormous Profits.

The department of agriculture last year made a rather thorough investigation into the increase in cost of farm products in their transfer from producer to consumer. This investigation established certain facts which the secretary of agriculture has summarized as follows:

The milk consumers of seventy-eight cities paid for milk an increase of 100.8 per cent above the price received by dairymen. In other words, the farmer's price was fully doubled. The lowest increase among the geographic divisions was 75.5 per cent in the south Atlantic states, and the highest was 111.9 per cent in the western states.

Officials in the department of agriculture point out that this wide discrepancy between the prices received by farmers and the prices paid by consumers is not of recent origin. Twelve years ago the industrial commission went into this subject somewhat extensively. It developed some large percentages of increase of prices to consumers—135.3 per cent for cabbage bought by the head, 100 per cent for melons bought by the pound, for buttermilk sold by the quart and for oranges sold by the crate; 260 per cent for onions bought by the peck, 400.4 per cent for oranges bought by the dozen, 111.1 per cent for strawberries bought by the quart and 200 per cent for watermelons sold singly.

The investigation of a year ago by the department of agriculture showed that poultry almost doubles in price between the farmer and the consumer. For the seventy-eight cities the farmer received 55.1 per cent of the consumer's price. Of the price per dozen paid by the consumer the producer received 69 per cent in the case of eggs, 75 per cent in the case of dried beans when bought by the bushel, 48.1 per cent in the case of cabbage when bought by the head, 75 per cent in the case of cauliflower when bought by the dozen and in the case of celery 60 per cent when bought by the bunch.

Farmers Not to Blame.

Secretary Wilson declares that the investigation the department made proves conclusively that the consumer has no well grounded complaint against the farmer for the prices that he pays. It is plain, the secretary says, that the farmer is not getting exorbitant prices for his products and that the cost of distribution from the time of delivery at destination by the railroad to delivery to the consumer is the feature of the problem of high prices which presents itself to the consumer for treatment.

Some time ago the city of Des Moines established a city market where the farmers and hucksters might sell directly to consumers. So successful has been the plan that a second market was recently opened.

The history of this Des Moines effort to reduce prices may prove of benefit to other communities. The cost of living became so high in the Iowa city that a commission was appointed to investigate. This commission found that prices were higher in Des Moines than in Chicago and considerably higher than in smaller cities of the middle west. For example, prices in Dubuque were 25 to 35 per cent less. Now, Dubuque is only about 200 miles from Des Moines, and natural conditions are practically the same in the two cities. The one great difference was discovered to be that Dubuque had maintained from time immemorial a market where farmers and hucksters might sell to consumers direct.

The result of this investigation was the Des Moines market. It was not established without bitter opposition from the commission men and wholesale dealers in produce. But it did bring down prices. The measure of its success may be judged from the establishing of the second market. The plan is simplicity itself. It simply provides a public place—a public square, open space, park or building with booths, as the case may be—from which the farmers and hucksters may retail their goods. This is under the direction of a city market master.

The awakening to the need of co-operative selling and buying in America is indicated by the program of this year's meeting of the national conservation congress at Kansas City. Among the subjects assigned were "Co-operation Among Farmers," by W. A. Beard, a member of Roosevelt's country life commission, and "Cutting Out the Middleman," by Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America. This organization has millions of members in the south. If it enlists in the movement of reducing prices, as the grange is doing in the north, there will be results.

When the American people are face to face with a problem they usually work it out. They are now face to face with high prices. Obviously the key to the solution of this problem is co-operation.

This paper is a member of the Los Angeles County Press Association.

GLENDALE, CAL., NOVEMBER 3, 1911

The city of Watts has contracted with the Pacific Light & Power Co. to supply electricity for street lighting for a period of five years for a flat rate of $1.50 a light or $150 a month.

The Lankershim Laconic has put out a special edition which is a credit to that paper and to their enterprising citizens who contributed to it in a substantial manner. It is a good advertisement of that prosperous and rapidly growing section.

An editor works 365 days in a year to get out fifty-two issues of a paper. That's labor. Once in awhile a subscriber pays a year in advance for his paper. That's capital. And once in awhile some son of a sea cock of a deadbeat takes the paper for two or three years, then skips out without paying for it. That's anarchy.—San Fernando Press.

Our neighboring town of Burbank is to be congratulated upon the consolidation of its two newspapers. The town is to be commiserated that has two or more newspapers inflicted upon it when inadequate support is given to one. One newspaper with good support from the community it represents will become an institution, the same support divided usually fails to work out the best interests of the community.

We are pleased to agree with our Tropico contemporary whenever our conscience will permit, and in its efforts to get a reduced fare from the Pacific Electric company as far out as Tropico avenue, shall be glad to assist all we can. It is certainly inequitable on the part of the railroad company to demand the same fare between Tropico and Los Angeles that it charges for the same service over two more miles of its line, or four miles, counting the round trip.

Richard LeGallien, professional poet was married for the third time the other day, and the outburst of song which he directed to his "Golden Girl," was thought worthy of being transmitted over the wires to distant parts of the world. It is rather a warm piece of metrical expression, which would have been quite as elevating if sent by slow freight. It would have been much more interesting if printed in parallel columns with some of the poetical effusions he addressed to numbers one and two.

The supervisors of the county have been receiving many complaints from owners of trees who have been compelled to pay bills for spraying or fumigating which was not properly done. In a case that came before them the other day from a Sierra Madre man who claimed that the work damaged his trees because done at the wrong time, deputy district Byron C. Hanna advised the board that property owners should not be compelled to suffer for the negligence or carelessness of people over whom they have no control. The county will try to collect the bill for damages from the fumigator.

This is of local interest, as many property owners have been served with notices requiring them to have their trees cleaned by the one process or the other.

It seems that Providence alone is responsible for the safe passage of several trains of cars laden with passengers over a quantity of dynamite placed upon the S. P. railroad tracks near Santa Barbara last week. The wretched criminal who evidently wished to wreak vengeance against a railroad company and was willing to commit wholesale murder to achieve his object, evidently planned the affair with all the care and skill that his crooked mind was capable of, but his desire was frustrated in an almost miraculous manner. It seems strange that the law regulating the manufacture and use of high explosives is not made so strict that every stick of the stuff turned out from the factory can be identified wherever found, the record of every person handling it secured and the dangerous article traced to its final destination. It should be made almost imposible for evil minded outlaws to secure dynamite to use in their warfare against humanity.

GREATER GLENDALE.

As shown elsewhere in our columns, the annexation election of Oct. 14th which brought into Glendale a large territory west of Central avenue, added to the population of the city something like 2000 people, making a total of about 5500. There are two other annexation elections in view, and it will no doubt be demonstrated that the movement of last winter for the addition of territory on all sides of Glendale, was right, but that the time was not ripe for its consummation. Things have been ripening rapidly since that time. Glendale now has sufficient population to allow of its securing a charter and having a local government along lines more in accordance with the idea of home rule than is possible under the general state law.

Now, as always, we favor the Greater Glendale idea and believe that the people who are brought within the limits of the municipality will be gainers in many ways.

AUCTIONS AND ADVERTISING.

The people who want to sell goods or property in this section by auction are in the habit of going to Los Angeles and putting the business in the hands of an auctioneering concern there. These concerns generally ignore the local paper in their advertising, depending for publicity upon a few dodgers printed in and distributed by a man from Los Angeles. As a result of this method, the people in the vicinity of the auction know nothing about it until it is over.

One-half of these sales are failures because of the small attendance, but the auctioneer gets his money just the same. There are auctioneers in Glendale, they do not make much noise, it is true, but they are here. There are local papers through which to obtain publicity. There are people who are willing to buy anything that looks like a bargain. Here is a business which can be carried through more successfully by local people than by the concerns in Los Angeles, and some day the discovery will be made by our people that we have in our own immediate neighborhood the most of the things that are a real necessity of our existence.

GO TO IT AND KEEP COOL.

The NEWS has received a copy of a circular issued by the Tropico Chamber of Commerce, dated Oct. 23rd, in regard to the proposition of consolidating the two cities of Glendale and Tropico, in which citizens of Tropico are advised "to discourage the movement, etc." The circular asserts that 75 per cent of the citizens of Tropico "are thoroughly satisfied with the management of our city affairs by an exceptionally able and conscientious body of city officers." The proponents of the consolidation proposition are referred to as the "enemies of Tropico." It is also asserted that when the time comes for any change the 75 per cent above alluded to, desire to join the city of Los Angeles. The NEWS does not presume to judge between the two parties to this controversy. We do know, however, that those citizens of Tropico who favor consolidation with Glendale, claim that 75 per cent of the people of that place desire to merge their municipal interests with Glendale. There seems to be no other method practicable for settling that important matter than by an election, and as this is to be the result, our advice to both parties is to go to it and to bear in mind throughout the campaign that calling their opponents hard names does not make votes and leaves a bad taste in the mouth.

THE LOS ANGELES ELECTION.

At the time of writing this, it appears that Alexander and Harriman ran close together in the primary election in Los Angeles on Tuesday, with Mushet third, getting approximately half as many votes as either of the other two. The fight is now on between the Good Government forces and the Socialists to be settled at the polls on Dec. 5th. There is little doubt but at that time Mayor Alexander will be elected to succeed himself. The Socialists undoubtedly put forth their full strength at the primary, and as it is conceded that the majority of the Mushet voters will now support Alexander, the result can hardly be in doubt. The accession of the woman vote in the December election can scarcely be looked upon as complicating the situation. The newly enfranchised citizens may be relied upon to cast a good vote, numerically speaking, but, assuming that the believers in socialism among them will vote the ticket in a body, those of their sex who oppose their propaganda will be quite as numerous as they. That this election attracts the interest of the nation is no wild assertion. After Chicago and San Francisco, Los Angeles is in the foremost ranks of socialism among the cities of the union, and the result of the present campaign will have more than a local interest. The failure of the city to sell its last bond issue is clearly attributable to the municipal campaign and doubt in the minds of bond buyers as to its outcome. Even now the strength of the socialists there as demonstrated in the primary election will have a deterrent influence upon investors until after the December election.

BE FIRM AND FAIR.

"Because we have opposed woman's suffrage we have lost only a few subscribers but for every one lost we have gained five. If a newspaper tries to carry water on both shoulders and is wishy washy it is merely a weak excuse and will never have any influence. We think we are right in our decided opposition to the fad of forcing women into public life at the behest of a militant minority. If this state had gone 10,000 majority for suffrage we would not change our opinion, and would not cease to deplore such a calamity—for it is a calamity to burden women with obligations that by nature they are not fitted for and never will be. We intend to be fair, candid and fearless and express ourselves freely. If this straightforward course should bring business disaster to us, let it come. It is better to be right than to be a time server, a hypocritical simulacrum of a sentient being, walking between heaven and earth endeavoring to cater to this or that fad because, for a time, it seemed to be popular. We are able to maintain our position in any controversy which has justice and right on our side and we shall do so, no matter what the consequences may be."

The above is from the Monrovia Messenger, whose very able editor, Homer Fort, made a strenuous fight against woman suffrage. The position of the Messenger is absolutely correct and we commend it as an example to some of the weaker brethren who editorially uphold fallacious theories in which they do not believe, merely to cater to a temporury wave of public opinion expressed usually by an enthusiastic minority.

AT MONTE VISTA.

Mr. McClemmons, formerly of Brawley, Cal., has just completed his bungalow. For artistic effect and comfort it is a wonder, costing less than a thousand dollars.

The dry, balmy evenings here are exciting the admiration of all who have moved in. Mrs. Sackstetter, who has juts moved in from Highlands, San Bernardino County, says the night air far surpasses that at Highlands.

Mr. Stokes has bought the eight-acre place at Haines and Michigan avenues, including the big cement house. Contractor C. W. Moore of Sunland (one of the charter members) is busy remodeling the place with new porches and cobble chimneys.

The domestic water pipes are now laid to all parts of the tract, and the flow of this one small part of our system is as much as the entire city of Glendale owns. This supply will carry all irrigation demands for a while, and the big well can be harnessed up at any moment if all charter members should move up at once. The other works are progressing nicely.

Sunland (Monte Vista Valley), Oct. 25.—(Special Correspondence)—Great construction work has been going on up here on the big Western Empire Tract and eleven miles of new roads have been built and over three hundred families have purchased lands here. Any old Californian coming through this valley today would hardly recognize the district and fine gravelled roads are extending in all directions.

We cannot get carpenters enough. Wages are $3.50 to $4.00 a day and all have to keep going continuously to Los Angeles to get more men, and they are difficult to secure.

Monte Vista folks were amazingly surprised by the announcement in Los Angeles papers that the state highway was to branch off the Fernando road at Roscoe and come through Monte Vista to Pasadena, connecting with the county stone boulevard at Crescenta for Los Angeles. When completed this means paved stone streets right into Los Angeles, no mud and no dust. The choice of routes is in the hands of the Southern California state highway committee of which R. W. Pridham, chairman of the county board of supervisors is president. Mr. Pridham has always loved the Crescenta-Monte Vista valley and always regretted that it was not included in the county boulevard plans. He has taken this occasion to let the folks of Southern California know what an asset they have up here in this "little Yosemite Valley." The headlines in the newspapers of Los Angeles were interesting. The Los Angeles Express of Oct. 7th said in its headlines: "This route will open a little known region of great beauty," and now 400,000 people in Los Angeles are asking "Where is this Monte Vista valley, anyway?" They'll soon find out. At the association offices in Los Angeles, the news did not seem to be much of a surprise, but was none the less gratifying. Editors Hartranft and Jones said: "We always claimed to you charter members that Los Angeles would rise up and claim Monte Vista as its own and that we'd get a stone paved boulevard within four or five years, but things are coming mighty fast now."

CASA VERDUGO.

The Casa Verdugo people want a grammar school of their own. A committee of ten has been appointed to confer with the school board of Glendale to see what can be done in the matter.

A pretty affair was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Green at their home, complimentary to Hermine Shone, who has just closed an engagement at the Orpheum theater; Mrs. Shone, mother of Miss Shone; Emmet de Voy, author of "The Little Goddess," and Miss Ina Busch of San Francisco.

Mrs. Jane Wyvell celebrated her 71st birthday on the 25th of October. A birthday dinner was served at the home of James Wyvell, 1213 Brand boulevard, thirty-five relatives and close friends being present. Mrs. Wyvell is the mother of James Wyvell and L. D. Oliver of this place, and John Wyvell of Glendale.

An important sale this week was that of the beautiful home place of one and one-half acres and a fine nine-room residence of J. B. Webber on Brand boulevard near Arden avenue. The property was purchased by Mrs. Eva Young of Los Angeles, the consideration being stated at $6500. Mr. Webber and family are now residing at 525 Central avenue, Glendale.

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock over the remains of I. T. Dyer. The services wer largely attended by business associates and friends. Many beautiful floral pieces were received evidenced the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Special funeral cars conveyed those attending to the Forest Lawn cemetery at Tropico, where the body was interred.

The Walker Realty Company has commenced work on a residence for C. E. Anderson of Chicago on a lot they recently sold to him, on Louise street, north of First. The same firm has made an exchange of the W. R. Walker place on Second street, east of Verdugo Road, for Los Angeles property. A $9,500 transaction.

BURBANK THEATER—"THE TRAVELING SALESMAN."

James Forbes' dramatic glorification of the commercial "drummer," known to thousands of delighted theatergoers as "The Traveling Salesman," will have its first stock company presentation at the hands of the Burbank company next week, commencing with the Sunday matinee.

Just to add good measure to the merriment of "The Traveling Salesman," Mr. Forbes has supplied a poker game scene in which the participants are several happy-go-lucky traveling men, with a colored hotel porter as an additional reason for hilarity.

Following "The Traveling Salesman" the Burbank company will offer for the first time by any stock company in the world, Mr. Forbes' other famous triumph, "The Chorus Lady," in which that popular and well-liked leading actress, Florence Stone, will be seen as Patricia O'Brien, the part created and played for four years by Rose Stahl. Miss Stone has been especially engaged for "The Chorus Lady" and her appearance in such a tremendously popular comedy will have the effect of jamming the spacious Burbank at every performance.

TAXES.

All taxes are now due. The county taxes may be paid in two installments, the first half becoming delinquent on the last Monday in November. They are payable in the new Hall of Records building in Los Angeles. Glendale city taxes must be paid in one payment at the city hall, Glendale, and become delinquent the last Monday in December.

HAMBURGER'S MAJESTIC THEATER—LAMBARDI GRAND OPERA COMPANY.

The season of grand opera will begin Sunday night when the well-known Lambardi Grand Opera company will open an engagement of two weeks at the Hamburger Majestic theater.

The list of principals to be heard here with the Lambardi forces is a long and interesting one.

The orchestra will consist of some thirty-five selected players and will be under the direction of Sig. Fulgenzio Guerriari, who will alternate with Sig. Luigi Cocohotti, one of Italy's most distinguished masters. The repertoire for the first week of the engagement at the Majestic will be as follows:

Nov. 5, Sunday night, "Trovatore." Nov. 6, Monday night, "Rigoletto." Nov. 7, Tuesday night, "Mme. Butterfly." Nov. 8, Wednesday matinee, "Rigoletto;" Wednesday night, "Trovotore." Nov. 9, Thursday night, "Thais." Nov. 10, Friday night, "Carmen." Nov. 11, Saturday matinee, "Thais." Saturday night, "Lucia."

Government statistics show that of the money expended in this country for "living expenses" only 14 per cent is expended for "necessities."
This is good food for reflection from an economic viewpoint, yet regardless of the ratio of "necessities" and "luxuries," it is good policy and system to have ALL expenses pass through your BANK ACCOUNT, thereby keeping an accurate record for a convenient reference. The endorsed check shows the complete transaction. It is the modern method.

GOOD ADVICE FOR GLENDALE PEOPLE

People in Glendale who have constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach, should use simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the new German appendicitis remedy. A SINGLE DOSE brings relief almost INSTANTLY because this simple mixture antisepticizes the digestive organs and drains the impurities. J. J. Nesom.

HALLOWE'EN SURPRISE FOR MISS BERTHA NEFF.

Among the many parties given during the week was the surprise tendered Miss Bertha Neff of Los Angeles, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Hammond, 1509 Ivy street, on Monday evening. The house was gaily decorated throughout with bright colors, and beautiful flowers. Shades were drawn and light furnished by the proverbial jack o' lanterns that could be seen in every nook and cranny, every one with a more beautiful expression on its face than that of its neighbor. Various games consistent with the day were indulged in and refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie, ginger bread, apples, nuts, etc., was furnished by the hostess, during the evening to about thirteen friends of Miss Neff, the majority of them coming from Long Beach, with some from Tropico and Glendale. All left at a late hour feeling they had spent a delightful evening.

BIRTHDAY DANCE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Downing of Seventh street entertained Friday evening in honor of the eighteenth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Miss Clarice. The Knights of Pythias Hall, where they entertained, never appeared more beautiful than it did in its decorations of pink and green, which were most effective.

Seventy guests gathered to greet and congratulate Miss Downing, many of them out-of-town friends. The evening will long be remembered as one of the happiest of the season's affairs.

The Episcopalians have sold the Guild Hall property, Third and Jackson streets, to Mr. Ingledue, who recently came to Glendale and is the proprietor of the Glendale market. They have also purchased three lots on the northeast corner of Fifth and Louise streets, adjoining the proposed library site, and propose to build there what Rev. MacIntosh terms "the Episcopal Church of the Valley," to cost about $20,000.

"DOLLY VARDEN" AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"Dolly Varden," the comic opera which made Lulu Glaser famous and which secured a triumph all over the United States, when she appeared in it, will be the offering of Ferris Hartman and his company at the Grand Opera House for the week beginning Sunday matinee, November 5. "Dolly Varden" is not only one of the most tuneful operas ever written, but it is also one of the most unusual. The book is by Stanislaus Stang and the music by Julian Edwards, each a past master in his chosen work. The scenes are laid in London, and the date of the action is supposed to be 1730. This allows of gorgeous costuming and makes of "Dolly Varden" a costume play in the strictest sense of the term. The gay colors worn in those days were exceptionally beautiful, and Mr. Hartman has had made costumes which will carry out the ideas of that time. Pretty girls and dashing officers will back up the principals in their efforts to amuse. The story of "Dolly Varden" relates the adventures of an unsophisticated young country girl, who goes to London to attend the wedding of her guardian's sister. "Dolly" soon loses her naive ways in the city and becomes a thorough going society queen, her beauty and charm aiding her. Her guardian, Jack Fairfax, wishes to marry her for her wealth, but her hand is sought by handsome Captain Richard Belleville of the King's Guard. In the end love triumphs and Dolly becomes the wife of the officer. A counter plot runs through the piece. Lady Fairfax is sought by Lord Gayspark, an exquisite of the Beau Brommel school, but impecunious and more or less of a roue. The fair lady is willing to trade her money for Gayspark's title, but she is finally won by Captain Horace Harcourt of His Majesty's ship Scorpion. The poor naval officer also triumphs in the end and the finale is happy for all. Miss Lucile Palmer will have her first big opportunity to show her exquisite vocal talent as "Dolly Varden." To Percy Bronson has been assigned the part of Captain Belleville. Lord Gayspark will be played by Ferris Hartman. His peculiar style of fun-making will undoubtedly make of this part one of his greatest successes. Miss Myrtle Dingwall will be Lady Letitia Fairfax, a London belle. Miss Vilmer Stech will appear as a lady of fashion. Her costumes for this part will be exceedingly beautiful. Matinees of "Dolly Varden" will be given Sunday and Saturday with a bargain matinee on Tuesday.

EAGLE ROCK FLOWER SHOW.

Next Saturday afternoon and evening at Symphony hall, Eagle Rock, a flower show is to be held, which it is promised will hereafter be an annual event. A number of professional florists are located in our neighboring city and with the great number of amateurs in the neighborhood there is every reason to believe that the show will be an interesting and enjoyable event. There will be music and refreshments and bulbs and plants will be on sale. A small admission fee will be charged.

BELASCO THEATER—"THE MELTING POT."

The patrons of the Belasco theater are promised a genuine dramatic treat next week, when Lewis S. Stone and the others of the Belasco company will offer Israel Zangwill's very remarkable play, "The Melting Pot." Few dramas of recent product have been received with the same degrees of enthusiasm that has been accorded to the Zangwill play and certainly nothing that the Belasco company has offered in months contains so much that is really good and profitable as is to be found in "The Melting Pot."

Besides Mr. Stone who will have the important role of David Quixano in which he will have ample chances to exploit his well-known histrionic talents, the cast will include Bessie Barriscale who will be seen as Vera, a part that is capitally adapted to the actress's abilities. The assignment of parts will require the services of every member of the Belasco company as well as a number of specially engaged players.

A team belonging to MacDonald, the expressman, ran away Wednesday morning, colliding with the automobile of W. R. Middleworth, standing on Fourth street opposite the Pacific Electric depot from where the horses started. The damage to the auto was not serious, and the team was stopped on Fourth street opposite Pulliam's.

Miss Harriet Williams of 310 Cedar street entertained a few friends at her home on Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary and Hallowe'en. Spooky adventures of all kinds were indulged in, attended by much merriment. After every Hallowe'en rite had been observed, a spread was served on a table adorned with black cats and witches. The lights had been converted into pumpkin blossoms, and the walls of the rooms were draped with graceful festoons of English ivy. To one and all the evening was a pleasure from the moment of arrival to that of departure.

Cohn, Mrs. George Kelly, Miss Winifred Cohn, Mrs. Dora Gibson. Mr. Girard entertained the pupils of the Glendale High School Friday morning with vocal selections. He is a teacher of marked ability and at present has his studio in the Majestic Theatre Building, known as the vocal school of physiology.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Stone, of Carrollton, Mo., are visiting Mr. S. J. Reed and family and other friends.

A pretty Hallowe'en event was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farris, corner of Louise and First streets, Monday evening. Music and games appropriate to the event were enjoyed. Miss Howard, a composer of Los Angeles, rendered several original vocal selections which were greatly enjoyed. About a dozen guests were present.

Mrs. Menzo Williams of North Central avenue, president of the Maids and Matrons of the Country Club, entertained the board of directors of the organization at luncheon on Monday. The guests were Mrs. T. W. T. Richards, Mrs. V. Price-Brown, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. Charles Temple, Mrs. A. W. Dow and Mrs. Ralph Hinckley. The table was artistic in its decorations of pink roses, while the house was a profusion of chrysanthemums.

Extremes of Temperature.

Science reasons that the lowest temperatures at the earth's surface are not found directly at the poles, but at some distance to the south of the north pole and to the north of the south pole. Likewise the greatest degree of heat is not, as might be supposed, to be found at the equator, but prevails at some distance to the north and to the south of that imaginary line. The coldest place on the earth's surface of which there is authentic record is in Siberia. The lowest temperature ever recorded in the open air was 90 degrees below zero F. at Werchajansk, central Siberia, on Jan. 15, 1885. The highest temperature of which there is an authentic record is 124 degrees above zero F. in Algeria, northern Africa, on July 17, 1879. These places of extreme heat and extreme cold give a range of temperature covering the whole inhabited world of 214 degrees, or two degrees more than from zero to the boiling point.

Don't Breathe Lazily.

"If you are consumptive, if you think you are drifting into consumption, sing!" said a medical man.

"Of course singing alone will not save you from consumption or cure you. Besides singing you must have plenty of fresh air and good food. And, speaking of fresh air, I must say that not one person in a hundred knows how to inhale it. People seldom breathe deeply enough. They seldom properly ventilate their lung cavities, which resemble stuffy, insanitary apartments, where all germs thrive undisturbed. Acquire the habit of taking the big, deep breath which is a primary requisite for any kind of singing, bad or good, and the physical joy derived from it will never allow you to relapse into lazy breathing. Furthermore, the mere effort of singing compels the singer to stand straight and to throw out the chest, a good corrective for the bad physical habits of weak chested people."

Killed by a Shout.

A joyful shout thoughtlessly given by an Italian smuggler on having eluded the customs guards on the Swiss frontier was the cause of his six companions being killed by an avalanche. The party, coming from the Grisons, had, with a thousand precautions, successfully negotiated the Forcola pass on the Swiss-Italian border. Five of the men were loaded with valuable contraband goods, and two acted as guides and scouts. When they were all safely on Italian soil one of the guides named Maretoli gave vent to a joyful yodel. In the still air the least sound causes a vibration which may set enormous masses of snow moving. This is what occurred here. A quarter of a million tons of snow detached itself from the mountain side and came thundering down upon the party, who were swept in an instant into an abyss. Maretoli alone was able to extricate himself.

Checkmate!

In these days, when various schemes are being suggested by which the loser of personal property may recover it without offering an extreme reward, it is interesting to note two advertisements which appeared last summer in a German paper. In these advertisements nothing so bald as a suggestion of reward appeared. They seem merely to present two wits fencing, and the reader forgets the matter at stake:

Berlin, Aug. 5.—The gentleman who found a purse, valuable beyond explanation, in the Blumenstrasse, is requested graciously to forward it to the address of the loser, as he is recognized.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—The recognized gentleman who found a purse, valuable beyond explanation, begs that the loser will call at his house at the earliest convenient hour.

The Green Kind.

A naval officer who has seen considerable service in South American waters once brought home two parrots, one of which he gave to the housemaid and the other to the cook.

For a long time there ensued animated discussions as to the merits of their respective birds. Finally the housemaid said:

"Your parrot may be a better talker than mine, though I don't believe it." Then, with an air of presenting the final clinching argument in her favor, she added, "Besides, you'll have to admit that mine has the most beautiful foliage."—Lippincott's.

Honored the Old Men.

A unique festival occurred in Paris in 1797 in honor of the old men. The idea was the encouragement of the family circle, and the old man who was a happy grandfather was held up to the younger generations to follow in his footsteps. "A gracious Hebe crowned their white locks with garlands of roses, while the soldiers of France presented arms in their honor."

The White Whale.

One of the creatures that inhabit the northern seas is the beluga, or white whale. It frequents the Arctic ocean, enters the numerous bays and inlets and sometimes travels up the fresh water streams to a considerable distance in search of food. It preys upon fish, and owing to its ability to swim very rapidly it is able to capture the fastest of these. It is pure white in color and quite large, often reaching fifteen to eighteen feet in length. It has a large mouth, containing a number of very sharp conical teeth. It swims by doubling its strong tail back under its body and driving itself forward with a powerful stroke. The natives of those cold regions which it inhabits catch the white whale with a stout net and by the use of the harpoon. A portion of the flesh is used for food, and the remaining portion is converted into a very fine grade of fish oil, which finds a ready sale. The skins are removed and made into leather.—Harper's Weekly.

Elephant Toothache.

A London surgeon who had been for many years in India says he would sooner risk a railway accident than meet an elephant with toothache. It appears that toothache affects an elephant in a more severe manner than it does any other animal. Elephants have very sensitive nerves, and a touch of toothache often brings on madness. Provided you are able to chain down an elephant and draw out the offending tooth, the brute is certain to be affectionate to you afterward. Here is an instance: An elephant in Bengal, India, became affected with toothache, but the keepers managed to secure it while a dentist drew a decayed tooth—the cause of the trouble. After a time the elephant seemed to understand that the dentist was trying to do something for his pain, and he gave every evidence of appreciating the attention. When the operation was over he frisked round the dentist like a young lamb.

Mrs. E. F. Tholen entertained the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club at her home at the corner of Tenth street and Brand boulevard, October 26th. The afternoon hours proved extremely pleasant and the attendance was quite large.

A business meeting of the Baraca class of the Presbyterian church was held in the church parlors Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. On the invitations issued for the affair the fact that it would be strictly a "stag affair," was especially emphasized.

It is remarkable how rapidly Griffith Park, just across the river from this place, is becoming the retreat of auto parties and those desiring to get close to nature without going many miles from Los Angeles.
